5. Comments:

5.1) Please identify what you perceive to be the real strengths and weaknesses of this teaching assistant and course.

- Danny was a great TA overall. I really liked how he offered 2 office hours per week and was happy to go over homework problems during these office hours. He also was incredibly patient with me, even though I sometimes asked pretty dumb questions and was clearly struggling in comparison to my classmates. I also found discussion section incredibly helpful (hence why I attended all of them). My one comment on how to improve discussion section would be to devote more time to practice problems and less time to reviewing the content from lecture. Personally, I found that the practice problems were a lot more helpful than reviewing content because Prof. Santos did a great job at teaching it the first time around. One other improvement is that I wish that homeworks were graded a bit quicker. I know that Danny is busy as he also TAs another class, but it would be nice to get our homeworks graded within around a week, rather than in 2-3 weeks. Going along with the busyness thing, it would be great if Danny was more open to answering questions over email during weekends. Because homework assignments were due on Tuesdays, being able to ask questions over the weekend was kind of unavoidable, but I found myself abstaining from emailing him because he would always say he couldn't guarantee that he'd respond before Tuesday. While I do understand that he's very busy, it would be nice to be able to rely on him responding to emails over the weekend. Overall, as mentioned earlier, Danny was a great TA and I really enjoyed having him as my TA this quarter.
- The teaching assistant had a great domain of the topics covered in the course and provided good feedback on grading of the homeworks
